Back in business

A FORMER gang member who models clothes for GAP and is setting up his own clothing business has opened up about his troubled past and problems with dyslexia.

Joshua Bopu, 20 (pictured), was only diagnosed with the dyslexia in his late teens while studying at Barking and Dagenham College, and helped out with Dyslexia Awareness Week, which ran from October 3 to 9.

He joined many well-known faces giving talks around the country, revealing what it's like to live with the condition.

Joshua came to the UK when he was five years old and unable to speak English. After a shoulder injury scuppered his chances of a first team place at Manchester City, he fell into bad company and joined a gang.

It wasn't long before he received an eight-month jail term, but after leaving prison Joshua joined Barking and Dagenham College, and finished his BTEC Extended Diploma in Sports this summer.

He is also a student mentor.

Joshua thanked college staff for their encouragement, and he hopes to use his experiences to help others improve their lives.

"With support from staff at the college, I've tuned my life around," he said. "It's not easy, but it's do-able and I hope I can inspire others to do the same."

Joshua's new urban clothing company – Suture Lotion – opens next summer.

➤ Sickening list of charges for Barking man revealed at the Old Bailey

A GRIM END TO ONLINE TRYSTS

AN ALLEGED rape victim became unconscious at a flat in Barking after accepting a drink from a suspected killer, the Old Bailey heard yesterday.

Stephen Port, 41, of Cooke Street, Barking, faces 29 charges relating to alleged murder, manslaughter, drugging, rape and sexual assault across east London and other outer London areas.

He denies the charges.

The Crown alleges that was present at the flat.

The three of them watched TV before Port took the alleged victim into his bedroom.

The court heard the victim was given a party drug known as 'poppers', but that the next thing he remembers is waking up on the side of Port's bed.

The alleged victim said: "When I woke, at the edge of his bed, I felt awkward. Then Port walked in. He was holding a glass of

'I was on the floor, shouting, naked, as if I was going mad'

Port murdered four men, and that he poisoned several others after meeting them on online dating sites.

Port allegedly committed the offences between June 2014 and September 2015.

One victim, who cannot be named for legal reasons, told the court on Tuesday how he had arrived at Port's flat in 2014 after meeting on a dating site. Another man clear liquid which he said would wake me up. It looked like water, with no taste or odour.

"As soon as I drank it I fell unconscious. Next thing I remember, I was on the floor, shouting – as if I was going mad. I was naked. I didn't know my name, who I was or where I was. I was not in pain but I had no control over my body."

Win tickets to ultimate Halloween fright night

HIDE and Shriek's all-new Halloween event – Scream Park – takes place this month in Southend's Victoria Shopping Centre and we have 10 pairs of tickets to give away.

Featuring three live action scare mazes, and entertainment on select nights in October, it will be one of the biggest indoor Halloween scream parks in the UK.

The Zombie Hordes will be back in the Dead Centre Bite Size Maze, a condensed version of the famous Zombie Survival Experience.

The shopping centre's service corridors have been over run and you need to escape – fancy your chances?

Returning this year is the I'Scream Factory award-winning scare maze, in which evil ice cream man, Gordi Dipples, is back. Think Charlie and the Chocolate Factory meets Texas Chainsaw Massacre – what is the worst that could happen?

Things will also be heating up in the all-new Boiled Maze where you can enter a realm of steam, blood and fire, and experience one of the most unique mazes in the UK. There is no need to be outside in the cold this Halloween, so head inside for the fright of your life on Saturday, October 22; Friday and Saturday, October 28 and 29; and Monday, October 31.

A standard ticket, which permits a single entry into all three mazes and access to entertainment, cost £20 per person plus a booking fee.

Please be aware that Hide and Shriek: Scream Park is not advised for those aged under 14, or for people with certain medical conditions or those of a nervous disposition. All experiences contain strobe lighting, horror themes, confined spaces, smell effects, loud noises and actors.

To win one of 10 pairs of tickets to Hide and Shriek's all-new Halloween event, which are valid for 7pm on Monday, October 31, answer the following question.

Q: On which date in October do we celebrate Halloween?

A: October 29

B: October 30

C: October 31

To enter the competition telephone your answer – A, B or C – to 0901 307 1697 along with your name, address, telephone number and email.

Alternatively text YASCREAM (space) followed by A, B or C, and your name, full address and email to 63333.

Calls cost 50p per call plus your phone company's access charge. Calls from mobiles will cost considerably more.

Texts cost 50p plus your standard network rates. If you do not wish to receive details on any other products or services, text EXIT at the end of your message.

Lines close on Thursday, October 20. Entries received after the closing date will not be counted but may still be charged.

Service Provider: JMedia UK Limited, RH16 3EG. Tel: 020 7720 7130.

T&Cs: By entering this competition you are confirming that you and your guest on the evening will be aged 14 and over. You will also be confirming that you do not have a medical condition that would be affected by an intense experience.

Two men held for £2.2m tobacco smuggling plot

A MAN from Dagenham was arrested by HM Revenue and Customs as part of an investigation into a suspected £2.24million tobacco smuggling fraud.

The 29-year-old was held on suspicion of importing and distributing non-UK duty paid tobacco products.

Another man, 22, from Basildon, Essex, was arrested for the same reason. Both men have been bailed until January.

HMRC and Norfolk Police seized 7.3m illicit cigarettes from a unit in Catfield, Norfolk, on Tuesday, October 4, before searching suspects' homes in east London and Essex the following day.

RAID: Police arrested two men on suspicion of importing and distributing illicit supplies of overseas tobacco in a joint HMRC operation

Brett Wilkinson, assistant director of the fraud investigation service at HMRC, condemned the sale of illegal supplies of tobacco.

He said: "The smuggling, transport, storage or sale of illegal tobacco will not be tolerated by us or our partner agencies. Disrupting criminal trade is at the heart of our strategy to clampdown on the illicit tobacco market, which costs UK taxpayers around £2billion a year."

Computers, paperwork and £1,500 were also seized during the operation.

The investigation continues.

Anyone with information on illegal tobacco sales can contact a 24-hour hotline on 0800 59 5000.

Growing empathy for mental health

BEDFORD Parks Walled Garden and Havering Mind united to provide a day of gardening activities for people with mental health issues.

The Live a Better Life campaign, which takes place every Wednesday, involves discussion around emotional wellbeing and demonstrations on how to make healthy meals, as well as gardening.

Its aims are to bring people with mental health issues together through gardening to improve mental wellbeing and forge new friendships.

Steve Cuthbert, a long time walled garden volunteer, said: "I'm really enjoying helping Mind's clients and welcoming them into our community. I want to learn more about mental health so that I can help people even more."

Hornchurch celebrates women's sports with wheelchair rugby

GREAT Britain Wheelchair Rugby (GBWR) held a community fun day at Hornchurch Sports Centre on Sunday, October 9, in support of Women's Sports Week.

Professional coaches will teach people how to play, before a wheelchair rugby match concluded the day. Amy Marren, a Hornchurch resident and bronze medallist in the 200m individual medley at this year's Paralympics in Rio, was among the attendees. Wheelchair rugby combines elements of ice hockey, handball and rugby. It was founded in Canada in 1977.

COMMUNITY: The "breathtaking group", run by a physiotherapy team, which helps people with breathing difficulties

Hospice challenges myths about care in awareness campaign

SAINT Francis Hospice launched its sixth annual awareness campaign as part of Hospice Care Week.

It highlighted ways the charity cares and supports the community and challenged myths around hospice care via social media.

The theme of the week, "hospice care is...", encouraged contributors to explain how the hospice has helped them.

Volunteers, staff and patients outlined their experiences of care and support in a video on Monday, October 3.

There was a stand at Queen's Hospital, Romford, on the Thursday where people learnt about the hospice's work.

The hospice said: "What lots of patients and families find surprising is that they can have fun at the hospice."

It said it prevents patients feeling lonely by creating an environment where people can make friends.

"Being seriously ill can lead to social isolation and loneliness but many patients enjoy meeting new people and making in a relaxed and supported environment."

The statement concluded by highlighting the tranquil surroundings for patients.

"The hospice is in a beautiful setting which overlooks a country park and is surrounded by award-winning gardens where patients, visitors and staff can rest and relax."

See the video featuring staff, patients and visitors at www.sfh.org.uk.

The alleged victim was asked whether he thought he had been raped and he said he was not sure.

Port took the alleged victim to Barking train station. On the station platform he became ill and was helped by police and ambulance staff.

The alleged victim didn't want to report Port's alleged crime. He told the court that he intended to "gather more evidence" because he did not think he would be believed.

He returned to Port's home a month later with an 'old Nokia phone'. He recorded Port repeatedly apologising for his actions.

"He just kept saying sorry. But he did not offer a reason. He just kept repeating sorry and when I asked what for he did not answer."

The trial continues.

Hop to it: beer fest now on

LINE 'EM UP: New beers will be on tap at the Real Ale Festival

PUB GOERS will have the chance to try a selection of world ales and British beers during the 12 day 'Real Ale Festival' at a Hornchurch pub – held throughout October.

JJ Moon's, High Street, part of the JD Wetherspoons franchise, is holding the festival from October 12 to 23. All pints will be priced at £2.25.

Punters will be able to try 20 British beers, most of which have been brewed exclusively for the festival, made from British hop varieties such as Fuggles and Sovereign.

All the beers, including the overseas varieties, have been brewed in the UK.

Kerim Ozbengu, pub manager, said the festival gives punters an opportunity to try previously untried British beers.

"The festival is the perfect opportunity to showcase the wonderful range of British-grown hop varieties and to support British hop farmers.

"It will give people the opportunity to enjoy a superb selection of UK and international beers, many of which have not been served in the pub before," he added.

A Great Sight

A new range of glasses from Specsavers is specially designed to be the most comfortable yet

We all know how great it feels to find something that fits us perfectly – and that's never more important than with things we wear every day, like our glasses. With many of us relying on our glasses more and more as we get older, it's no surprise that there's a demand for specs that not only do the job, but feel great to wear, too.

In fact, when Specsavers carried out in-depth research last summer to find out what customers over the age of 65 wanted from a pair of glasses, the number-one answer was comfort and a great fit. As a result, they've developed a new range, ComFit, which puts comfort and fit at its core.

"They're the best glasses I've had so far," says Anne Cooper, 75, who recently tried a new pair of ComFit glasses. They were so comfortable!

Sometimes I didn't even realise I had them on.

The ComFit range features cushion-like gel pads, so you can wear them all day long without any irritation. A discreet silicon lining makes even a heavy bridge unnoticeable and extra soft arm tips are designed to stop glasses from irritating the delicate skin behind the ear. Flexible hinges provide improved durability, ideal for people who regularly take their glasses on and off.

A great fit and fashionable frames are a winning combination for Carol Bond, 72, as well. "I prefer the bridge of the nose, where it's rounded, because they sit more snug against the nose," she says. "And behind the ears, they sort of shoot off the ear rather than going around the ear and this is more comfortable."

The ComFit range has 40 different styles of frame to choose from – 20 for men, and 20 for women. "People do want comfort, but they also want them to look attractive," says Carol. "These are really light and comfortable – and stylish too."

Call for more refugee cash

By Rudi Abdallah

havering@yellowad.co.uk

A CROSS-PARTY organisation representing London's 32 boroughs has urged the government to provide more financial support to local authorities so they can re-home more Syrian refugees.

The call follows claims by Havering Council that it could not help with re-homing due to "budget pressures".

London Councils called on prime minister Theresa May to help London authorities after revealing they had only taken 64 refugees at the halfway point of 2016.

David Cameron pledged to relocate 20,000 Syrian refugees by 2020.

A spokesperson for London Councils said boroughs were willing to help but couldn't do so as the resources weren't unavailable.

"Boroughs stand ready to help and are involved in discussions with the GLA and the Home Office about how best to support efforts to resettle Syrian refugees," they said.

"However, they must be provided with adequate resources to be able to do this given the existing pressures on housing."

A spokesperson from Havering Council echoed the sentiments, claiming they could not join the scheme due to their "extremely stretched budgets". They added that the council was uncertain whether the government would provide extra funding for relocation costs any time soon.

Cllr Roger Ramsey, leader of the council, said the council had taken in asylum seekers from war-torn countries.

"Havering does not have any Syrian refugees at this time, but it is part of a regional, pan-London dispersal system. Currently we provide care for 35 young people seeking asylum in the UK."

As well as Syria, asylum seekers are also fleeing from countries such as Eritrea, Afghanistan and Ethiopia.

Meanwhile, a spoke-person for Waltham Forest Council said the council was participating in the scheme on the basis that funding would be provided.

"While we have not taken in refugees via the Syrian Vulnerable Persons Resettlement Programme, we remain committed to housing 10 Syrian refugee families ahead of 2020, provided that Government allocates adequate funding to allow us to do this."

WARTIME ALERT nursery kids wanted

MEMORIES: Children were cared for at the hall during the Second World War and beyond so that their mothers could work

CHILDREN who attended a nursery at Rainham Hall during the 1940s are being called on to tell their stories.

Staff are encouraging people connected to the building during the Second World War to contribute stories to a new exhibition.

The hall, a grade II listed building owned by the National Trust, is looking back on its history as it approaches its one-year anniversary since opening.

The spring 2017 exhibition will focus on the period between 1943 and 1954, when the building was requisitioned and turned into a daytime nursery for children.

The National Trust is asking those who were either cared for at the nursery, worked there or know something about the building's history during the period to tell their stories.

Artists and creative groups will stage displays and installations for the exhibition, reproducing the nursery setting and childhood themes, which people can explore.

During the war the government worked alongside local authorities setting up daytime nurseries to allow mothers with young children to work.

Recruitment Premium paid at 12 months' service £1,250 and again at 24 months' service £1,250.

HM Prison Wandsworth is at the heart of a major shake-up in the UK's prison system. We're aiming to improve conditions for both offenders and staff – and getting the right prison officers with the right characteristics is vital to our success.

It can be challenging, exciting and, yes sometimes unpredictable work as you deal with vulnerable and often unpredictable people. But it's immensely rewarding too, as you help to turn lives around, reduce reoffending and play a role in the transformation of how UK prisons operate.
